RivetRite Record Storage Units will aid in records management by providing an organized solution to high density archive storage.

Two types of units are available; one that utilizes particle board decking to support the boxes, and an all steel unit with specially designed box supports. (Particle board must be ordered separately – see table below).

Fire insurance premium savings may be realized by using units with steel box supports. Check with your insurance carrier.

Add-on units utilize a common Tee Post between units to save time during assembly.

*All unit box capacities are based on a standard archive box size of approximately 12-1/2" wide x 16-1/2" deep x 10-1/2" high. 42" wide units hold 3 boxes across; 69" wide units hold 5 boxes across.

5/8" Particle Board Decking

Penco 1-M-1 interior grade particle board is available pre-cut to fit or from your local building materials supplier.

Record Storage Box Supports

Box Supports allow air to circulate around the entire box, helping to reduce moisture and musty smells. They align with holes pre-punched in the special double rivet beams and are secured with nylon button fasteners.

All dimensions are in inches unless otherwise stated.
